Communicating current legal information to attorneys and pharmacists...

Dear ASPL members and Past Seminar Attendees,

After much reflection and discussion, the ASPL Board of Directors has determined that it is in the best interest of the organization and its members to move forward with plans to conduct our November Developments in Pharmacy Law Seminar in-person, as well as provide a livestreaming component for those unable to travel. ASPL is working closely with the staff at the JW Marriott Las Vegas to ensure the health and safety of our Seminar attendees in regards to the transmission of COVID-19.

At this time, the State of Nevada is requiring that all individuals, regardless of their vaccination status, wear a mask in public indoor settings, as well as recommending that they wear masks in crowded outdoor settings or when in close contact with individuals who are not fully vaccinated. Following these requirements will be expected by all attendees during our Seminar events. Handwashing and limited physical contact will also be encouraged throughout the duration of the event. Hotel staff will work diligently to ensure meeting space, public areas and guest rooms are cleaned and sanitized thoroughly as well. Attendees are asked to respect one another's contact and distancing preferences so that all in attendance can enjoy a safe and comfortable event.

If the State of Nevada, Clark County and/or City of Las Vegas impose additional requirements/recommendations for individuals' safety, ASPL will notify in-person Seminar registrants of these changes via email communication.

Unless the State of Nevada, Clark County and/or City of Las Vegas imposes a restriction on businesses which would prohibit the Seminar from being held at the JW Marriott, ASPL is committed to carrying out the in-person portion of the event. If such a restriction were to be imposed, all in-person registrants for the Seminar will automatically be converted to a virtual registration with an appropriate refund reflecting that registration.

Thank you for your patience and understanding as the staff and Board tackle unique circumstances in balancing our desire to provide excellent education and networking opportunities with the health and safety of our attendees. Regardless of your ability to join us in-person or virtually, we look forward to seeing you in November!
